"Regulatory Agencies: New LatAm Landscape" - This session aims to delve into the evolving regulatory environment in Latin America, which reflects a strong commitment to enhancing collaboration, aligning with international standards, and strengthening regulatory systems. The ultimate goal of these efforts is to achieve harmonization, leading to a more efficient, transparent, and patient-centered environment.

Moreover, these collective efforts will foster innovation and increase access to vital medicines, ultimately resulting in improved healthcare outcomes for populations across the region. We firmly believe that this session will offer valuable insights into the regulatory landscape's current state and its potential impact on the biosimilars market in Latin America.

Our esteemed panelists for this session include:

- Pablo Alberto Quiroga Adame, Health Promotion Commissioner at COFEPRIS, Mexico
- Fabricio Carneiro de Oliveira, General Manager of Biological Products, Radiopharmaceuticals, Blood, Tissues, Cells, Organs and Advanced Therapy Products at ANVISA, Brazil
- Ana María Agueda Chura Tito, Biological Product Evaluator at DIGEMID, Peru
- Moderated by Nestor Lago, Medical Director at Gemabiotech, Argentina
