

Vamos destacar que esse não é um fato exclusivo do Brasil

No seu tradicional levantamento trimestral de previsões econômicas, quando são entrevistados mais de mil grandes executivos em todo mundo, a consultoria McKinsey detectou um aumento nas expectativas de maiores riscos geopolíticos nos próximos 12 meses.

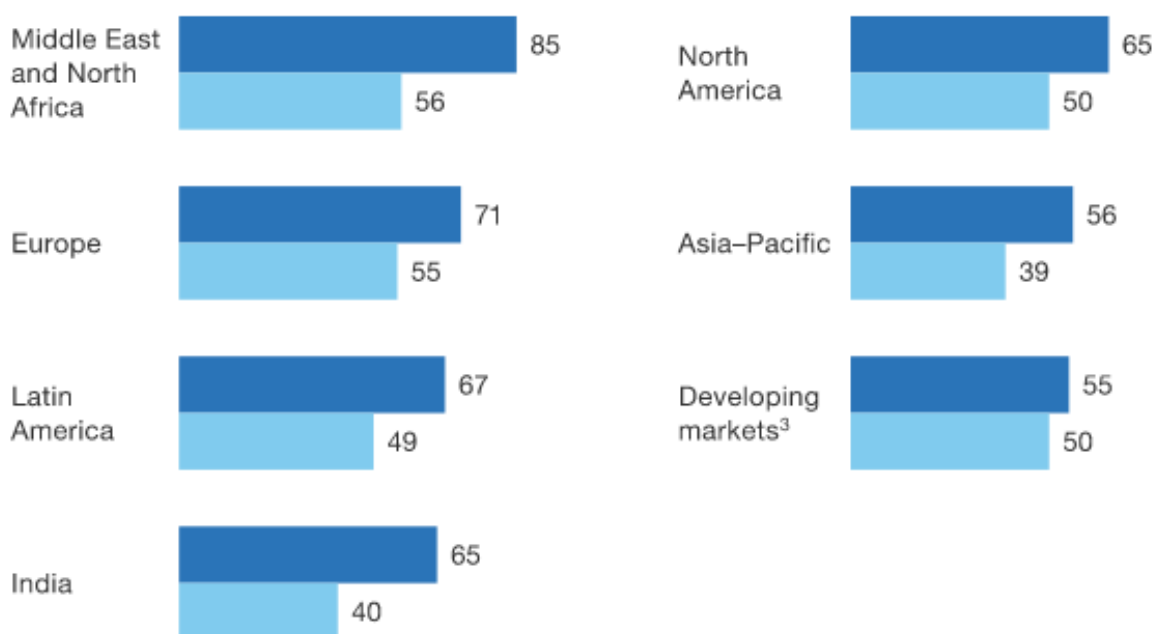

<http://www.mckinsey.com/business-functions/strategy-and-corporate-finance/our-insights/economic-conditions-snapshot-june-2017-mckinsey-global-survey-results>

Exhibit 1

In every region, geopolitical instability is cited most often as a threat to global growth—and much more often than in the previous survey.

Geopolitical instability as risk to global economic growth over next 12 months, % of respondents, by office location

■ June 2017<sup>1</sup>
■ Mar 2017<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup>In Middle East and North Africa, n = 57; in Europe, n = 343; in Latin America, n = 106; in India, n = 98; in North America, n = 301; in Asia-Pacific, n = 110; and in other developing markets, n = 146.

<sup>2</sup>In Middle East and North Africa, n = 81; in Europe, n = 601; in Latin America, n = 140; in India, n = 120; in North America, n = 433; in Asia-Pacific, n = 185; and in other developing markets, n = 182.

<sup>3</sup>Includes respondents in China.

McKinsey&Company

Fonte: Francisco Galiza/Rating de Seguros, em 15.07.2017.

